

NATURAL DISASTER:

I COVER THEM, I AM ONE!

by Ginger Zee

ABC News chief meteorologist Ginger Zee pulls back the curtain on her life in Natural Disaster. Ginger grew up in small-town Michigan where she developed an obsession with weather as a young girl. Ginger opens up about her lifelong battle with crippling depression, her romances that range from misguided to dangerous, and her tumultuous professional path. This cyclone of stories may sound familiar to some—it's just that Ginger's personal tempests happened while she was covering some of the most devastating storms in recent history, including a ferocious tornado that killed a legend in the meteorology field. THE EDGE OF BELONGING

by Amanda Cox

Reviewed by Anita Geurink

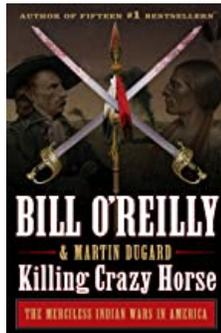

I really enjoyed this book. It was an inspiring story of how adoption can really bring people together. This story shows the perspective of 5 main characters whose lives become intertwined through an abandoned baby. A homeless man finds purpose, a couple finds hope, and a mother who suffered great loss gets the chance to share love and wisdom with others. It was very touching to walk through Ivy's self-discovery as she uncovers the secrets of her adoption. Adult Fiction

KILLING CRAZY HORSE

by Bill O'Reilly

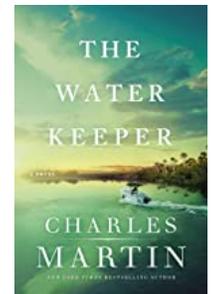

Bill O'Reilly fans and others will want to read this amazing, fast moving book about the history of the Native American Indian tribes and their demise by the United States, not just Crazy Horse. Atrocities on both sides is fairly reported. As we are confronted with cultures different from our own, it's good to learn from these happenings. Once again, O'Reilly and Dugard have made History come alive in a really vivid, understandable and page-turning read. Adults

THE WATER KEEPER

by Charles Martin

Murphy Shepherd is a man with many secrets. When he pulls a beautiful woman named Summer out of Florida's Intracoastal Waterway, his own mission takes a dangerous turn. Drawn to Summer, who is desperate to find her missing daughter, Murph is pulled into the dark world of modern-day slavery. Another page turner from Charles Martin with drama, pain and mystery. THEY DANCED ON

by Carre Gardner

Darling Family Series #3

A beautiful conclusion to the story of the Darling Family. They Danced On weaves together the up-and-down stories of each of the characters, but particularly Jane's and Laura's. Gardner masterfully takes you on a journey that will leave you laughing one moment and crying the next. Gardner offers up so many goodies and blessings in this novel — channeling anxiety into prayer, finding gratitude, taking everything to God, accepting God's answers with good grace, grief and its unpredictability, and grace and forgiveness. Be sure you read all three! Adult Fiction

A MONSTER IN THE HOLLOW

by Andrew Peterson

Reviewed by Faith Geurink

The saga continues as the Igiby children flee from the North, it seems not all safe places are safe, but where could be safer than the Green Hollows? With the giant metal Watercraw guarding any seaward invaders, well guarded borders and even the Durgan patrol to keep them all safe. But is it enough? Even in this refuge the children receive rumors about terrible, evil, misshapen creatures called Cloven, or even worse, nasty ridgerunners who are coming closer and closer to the Hollow's warehouses in their dastardly attempts to steal all the fruit (nooooo!). Through it all the Igiby's find time to finally live a semi normal life, school, libraries, pets, delicious food, the cottage all of their own called Chimney Hill, and old friends (or new ones in some cases) may find them in the Hollows. This third book to the epic Wingfeather Saga is even better than the first two, simply bursting with courage, danger, hope, secrets, questions, and even just a touch of crazy. A perfect read aloud to children ages 7 and up this book will make you laugh, cry, shout and keep you on the edge of your seat the entire time, I promise you by the Hills and Hollows! Juniors
